

WELCOME TO LODI FARMS NURSERY!

We've been offering an extensive selection of nursery grown and locally sourced trees, shrubs, and perennials since 1992. This year we are at it again, growing, renovating, and expanding our nursery. We do all this hard work in the hope of offering you the best plants, the best expert advice and an overall great shopping experience. Like every year we are very excited to show you our beautiful 2023 nursery stock and help it find a new home in your landscape.

This catalog represents most, but not all, of the plant material we have to offer for our 2023 season. If there are other plants you're looking for, please feel free to ask; we may have them at the nursery.

In addition to being plant people, we also offer all the extras that go with helping to grow a beautiful, sustainable, and healthy landscape. We offer soil amendments, bulk soils, mulches, stone, and hardscape supplies. If you have plant questions or need advice, we are here to assist. If you're planning a new landscape or building onto an existing one, we offer landscape consultations to make your project decision making easier.

– OUR WARRANTY –

We want your plants to be successful and add beauty to your landscape. The first year of a plant's life after being planted is crucial. Choosing a location based on sunlight, water, and additional needs is very important. To partner in your success, we offer a ONE-year warranty on our trees, shrubs, and perennials. The warranty is given as a store credit for the amount you've spent. Once sold and taken from the nursery, plants are not exchangeable or returnable. Sale and clearance plants are not exchangeable or returnable unless otherwise noted. Our staff is knowledgeable, and we will do our best to help you make the right decisions when cultivating your landscape. If you suspect a problem or your plant is having a rough start, please do not hesitate to reach out to us so we can help.

LEGEND

NATIVE

These plants are both true natives and cultivars of natives. There are several levels of "native" that gardeners like to use when selecting their plants. Generally, native plants thrive in soil, moisture, and weather conditions that are specific to their region of origin.

ATTRACTS HUMMINGBIRDS

Hummingbirds typically like to drink nectar from tubular shaped flowers. Adding these plants to your landscape not only attracts hummingbirds but helps create a friendly and sustainable habitat for them.

ATTRACTS BUTTERFLIES

Butterflies utilize different plants for different stages of their development. Adding some of these plants to your landscape will increase the number of butterflies in your garden. They will also serve as host plants for the butterflies' other life cycles, such as egg laying, the larval stage (or caterpillar stage), and the pupa/cocoon stage.

DEER TOLERANT

Deer will taste, graze, or fully eat any plant if they're hungry enough. Historically there are some varieties of plants deer will leave alone. Texture and smell play a large role when they select their meals. They will pass on most plants that are extremely fragrant or prickly.

RAIN GARDENS/WET TOLERANT

These plants are great to use for rain gardens, high water tables or low-lying areas of your yard that are constantly wet. They can also be a more cost effective and natural solution for drainage issues in your yard.

BOTANICAL INDEX

Our catalog is in alphabetical order by botanical name. Below we listed the "common" plant name with its botanical name to make your plant search easier. If the botanical and the common are the same, we didn't include it in the index.

SHRUBS

NATIVE

These plants are both true natives and cultivars of natives. There are several levels of "native" that gardeners like to use when selecting their plants. Generally, native plants thrive in soil, moisture, and weather conditions that are specific to their region of origin.

ATTRACTS HUMMINGBIRDS

Hummingbirds typically like to drink nectar from tubular shaped flowers. Adding these plants to your landscape not only attracts hummingbirds but helps create a friendly and sustainable habitat for them.

ATTRACTS BUTTERFLIES

Butterflies utilize different plants for different stages of their development. Adding some of these plants to your landscape will increase the number of butterflies in your garden. They will also serve as host plants for the butterflies' other life cycles, such as egg laying, the larval stage (or caterpillar stage), and the pupa/cocoon stage.

DEER TOLERANT

Deer will taste, graze, or fully eat any plant if they're hungry enough. Historically there are some varieties of plants deer will leave alone. Texture and smell play a large role when they select their meals. They will pass on most plants that are extremely fragrant or prickly.

RAIN GARDENS/WET TOLERANT

These plants are great to use for rain gardens, high water tables or lowlying areas of your yard that are constantly wet. They can also be a more cost effective and natural solution for drainage issues in your yard.

PERENNIALS

NATIVE

These plants are both true natives and cultivars of natives. There are several levels of "native" that gardeners like to use when selecting their plants. Generally, native plants thrive in soil, moisture, and weather conditions that are specific to their region of origin.

ATTRACTS HUMMINGBIRDS

Hummingbirds typically like to drink nectar from tubular shaped flowers. Adding these plants to your landscape not only attracts hummingbirds but helps create a friendly and sustainable habitat for them.

ATTRACTS BUTTERFLIES

Butterflies utilize different plants for different stages of their development. Adding some of these plants to your landscape will increase the number of butterflies in your garden. They will also serve as host plants for the butterflies' other life cycles, such as egg laying, the larval stage (or caterpillar stage), and the pupa/cocoon stage.

DEER TOLERANT

Deer will taste, graze, or fully eat any plant if they're hungry enough. Historically there are some varieties of plants deer will leave alone. Texture and smell play a large role when they select their meals. They will pass on most plants that are extremely fragrant or prickly.

RAIN GARDENS/WET TOLERANT

These plants are great to use for rain gardens, high water tables or lowlying areas of your yard that are constantly wet. They can also be a more cost effective and natural solution for drainage issues in your yard.

GRASSES & FRUITS

NATIVE

These plants are both true natives and cultivars of natives. There are several levels of "native" that gardeners like to use when selecting their plants. Generally, native plants thrive in soil, moisture, and weather conditions that are specific to their region of origin.

ATTRACTS HUMMINGBIRDS

Hummingbirds typically like to drink nectar from tubular shaped flowers. Adding these plants to your landscape not only attracts hummingbirds but helps create a friendly and sustainable habitat for them.

ATTRACTS BUTTERFLIES

Butterflies utilize different plants for different stages of their development. Adding some of these plants to your landscape will increase the number of butterflies in your garden. They will also serve as host plants for the butterflies' other life cycles, such as egg laying, the larval stage (or caterpillar stage), and the pupa/cocoon stage.

DEER TOLERANT

Deer will taste, graze, or fully eat any plant if they're hungry enough. Historically there are some varieties of plants deer will leave alone. Texture and smell play a large role when they select their meals. They will pass on most plants that are extremely fragrant or prickly.

RAIN GARDENS/WET TOLERANT

These plants are great to use for rain gardens, high water tables or lowlying areas of your yard that are constantly wet. They can also be a more cost effective and natural solution for drainage issues in your yard.
