Danny Meisinger needs no introduction. The owner of Spinning Earth Pottery in Spring Hill, Kansas. He studied ceramics at the University of Kansas. He has over 85,000 followers on Instagram and is known for his extraordinary skills and techniques on the pottery wheel.

Danny will be sharing tips, tricks, and techniques for "Throwing Large". While Danny does make human sized vessels, and will impress you with the things he can do, this workshop is applicable to all levels. The focus will be on "throwing larger than you do now", covering all ways of joining thrown pieces, to adding coils, to understanding the effects of geometry, thickness, gravity, drying time, and using the correct tools for success.

This is a 2 day demonstration workshop and promises to be a fantastic weekend that will inform your abilities and inspire your creativity. Danny will have a small selection of pieces available for purchase and as always, great food is included for lunch and breaks.
